Study. But How?

"Did you behave in worship?" asked a mother. "Yes ma'am," answered the boy... "I even heard the lady behind me say, I've never seen a child behave like that in all of my life!"

We need to be careful how we interpret the word of another. Such is especially true with the Word of God. It is to be rightly divided, literally, "cut straight", or handled properly (2 Timothy 2:15). Hopefully, the following suggestions will help us in this wonderful challenge.

First, CATERGORIZE what is read. Try to capture the purpose of the book. Is it history, poetry, biography, or prophecy?

Second, ORGANIZE what is read. Pay careful attention to the context. Give notice to any "pivot terms" (i.e., therefore, for, in like manner).

Third, EVANGELIZE when reading. The Bible is a book of redemption, penned for our salvation (2 Timothy 3:15-17; James 1:25). Study with eternity in mind.

Finally, MEMORIZE key verses. The more we run a passage across our hearts, the more we will glean from the passage.

Nothing can be more exciting! Nothing is more needed! Hopefully, the Lord can describe you and me by saying, "His delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night." (Psalm 1:2)

His Life Hid in Your Heart

Week 8: Jesus and Leviticus

Doug Burleson

Doug Burleson chairs the Bible department at Freed-Hardeman University and writes these Monday to Friday devotionals. He opens up by saying, "This week we are reading from an oft-neglected book. The first half of Leviticus (ch. 1-16) is about the nature of the priesthood, sacrifices, and tabernacle, but Leviticus also includes instruction to be shared with God's people about their sin and the need for holy living (ch. 17-27). For the Christian, Leviticus also helps us to learn more about the work of Jesus, the true Holy One of God."

His selections each day from this book demonstrate how unified the Bible truly is, as the book of Leviticus is intertwined around the life of Jesus in such a way that it is impossible this occurred without the hand of God over it.

Spend a few minutes each day with these great lessons, and you'll be blessed. Do it every day, and it will change your life!
